

Mercer County Business BREGENZER BROTHERS

The Slate and Copper Roofing Experts

After three generations the most important aspect for the Bregenzer family is placing their customer first. Even though you will find their work on the finest campuses and churches in New Jersey and despite being highly sought after for historically important restorations. Bregenzer Brothers goes over and above-literally- on every project large or small.

“It’s about pride” says Mike Bregenzer the third generation operator of the business, who works with his wife, brother and sister in the daily operations.

Their “family” of dedicated artisans works closely with clients to develop a plan that is customized to fit their specialized roofing needs while always maintaining the historic preservation and architectural integrity of each building. “Whether we’re replacing 15,000 square feet of slate or performing needed upkeep and repairs, our name is up there with every job. That’s why each customer gets our full attention from the very start until the last finishing touches are completed.” As beautiful as they are long lasting. Bregenzer Brother’s slate and copper roofs add dignity and value to any building structure. “Every roof we install is essentially one-of-a-kind as are the needs of our customers” Bregenzer adds, “That’s why you want a specialist who understands the intricacies of old-world craftsmanship while incorporating modern-day innovations.”

Their attention to details can be seen in their work on the Princeton University Campus and the Lawrenceville Prep School as well as on the rooftops of may local businesses and historic buildings. Among the company’s latest projects completed in 2011 was the restoration of an original slate roof on a 130-year old church listed on the National Register of Historic Sites.

“We take pride in our work because in most cases it will be there for generations.” And So will the Bregenzer Brothers.
